 - Once the opening process begins, the ballots will be open by pairs of workers (one R and one D) who will only handle 20 ballots at a time and will complete a log sheet of their 20 ballots. They will list any rejected ballots with a reason before those are separated into bins for their specific reason for rejection. At that point, rejected ballots will be entered into the system for their specific reason and securely stored separately.
 - After the pair completes their 20 ballots, they will scan them into the Escan machine and log on their sheet the specific starting and ending PVT count of their batch.
 - o These records will be kept by a processing clerk within the room.
 - A facilitator will be assigned to manage the processing room and will randomly audit the work of the grouped pairs.

- One individual will be assigned to double check all empty envelopes before being stored away during the processing portion of the ballots being opened.
- All ballots scanned into the Escan machine as of 6:00PM on Election evening will be reported in the Election Night First Report.

- As in the Primary Election, the Clerk's Office will work with the bulk mail representative of the Owensboro Post Office to insure ballots are securely sent and received through the process.
- Any eligible ballots received after 6:00PM on Election evening will be scanned into a separate machine and reported at the State Board of Elections designated time.
